THE EFFSTONE BANK.

Comptroller Lacey completed his statement of the connection of his office with the closing of the Keystone National Bank of Philadelphia to-day and handed it to Secretary Foster for his information. The statement is very claborate and contains all the correspondence that has passed between Conptroller Lacey and Fazziner Drew.

Mr. Lacey takes the ground that the office of Comptroller of the Currency can only be investigated by Congress or by United States officials, and that it would be manifestly improper that its business should be subject to inspection by any municipality that desired

THE LAST SAD RITES. Impressive Funeral Services of the Late W R. Quarles.

All that was mortal of the late West Richeson Quarles was laid to rest yesterday afternoon within the hallowed precincts of sacred Hollywood.

A multitude of friends assembled at the grave; tender, loving hands placed sweetest flowers, and there in the beautiful and peaceflowers, and there in the beautiful and peace-ful city of the dead, as the last rays of the evening sun fell as a benedition upon the monuments of his ancestors, they consigned to the embrace of earth the body whose soul had already winged its flight to the God who

The funeral exercises were conducted at the Second Presbyterian church by Rev. Dr. Hoge, assisted by the Rev. Jabez Hall, pastor of the Seventh-street Christian church. A few minutes after 5 o'clock the honorary pallfew minutes after 5 o'clock the honorary pall-bearers came into the church, each carrying flowers. Following them came the active pall-bearers bearing the body, which was encased in a black cloth coffin with silver handles and surmounted by a large pillow of red roses. The family followed immediately and took the seats reserved for them. As this procession moved up the aisle Professor Thilow played a beautiful and appropriate voluntary, and as the last sweet strains died in faintest echoes Dr. Hoge began the reading of the Scriptures. During the reading of the impressive and cloquent service the pastor read the following hymn, and then without singing continued the Scriptures:

"Gently, Lord, O gently lead us
Through this lonely vale of tears;
Through the changes thou st decreed us
Till our last great change appears.
When temptation's darts assail us
When in devious path we stray,
Let thy goodness never fail us;
Lead us in thy perfect way."

At the conclusion of the reading Dr. Hall delivered an earnest and fervent prayer, at the close of which the pall-bearers came silently forward and took their stations about silently forward and took their stations about the bier. There was a moment of profound silence: a moment in which the entire concourse of friends were breathing in earnest sympathy with the bereaved family; a moment when eyes were dimmed and hearts were moved by a tenderness "too pure for the touch of a werd." Again the low notes of the organ began and the vast assembly of friends passed slowly out of the church.

Mr. Quarles was a man of sterling worth, a devoted husband and father, a loyal friend and the highest type of a good citizen. Every enterprise which has for its end the advancement of the city found an ardent advocate in him, and every charity found him a generous contributor. Few men live constantly en-ous contributor. Few men live constantly enjoying the warm personal friendship of so many, and fewer still through years of intercourse with the world retain all of the estimable traits of a man, Mr. Quarles was for many years the treasurer

The Methodist's Laymen's Union held their monthly meeting in Clay-street Methodist church last evening. Mr. A. L. Lumsden was On motion the secretary was requested to communicate with the chairmen of the several delegations from the various Methodist churches of this city and Manchester and urge them to complete their committees.

The executive committee presented a report recommending to accept the offer of the Sunday-school board to transfer all their assets and obligations to the Laymen's Union.

Mr. Charles W. Hunter explained that the assets amounted to some $11,000, while the obligations were much less.

The report was adopted and the executive mmittee empowered to take charge of the matter.

A report was presented from the Wesley Mission School stating a school had been started in November last, which was at present in a prosperous condition and numbered sixty members. The union was requested to provide a saitable building.

The report was referred to the business committee, who deemed it inexpedient to make a recommendation at this moment, owing to the indebtedness of the union.

A resolution was presented providing that a committee of five be appointed to take the necessary steps to obtain a charter for the union, so that the organization might hold property under the State laws. The resolution was laid on the table.

except for the heated atmosphere everybody enjoyed themselves.

The occasion was a pool match between W. C. Gould and Charles Manning, of New York. The latter is better known, perhaps, than Gould, for it was he who surrendered the championship to Powell some time ago. The match was arranged and Manning was the favorite, having beat Powell two out of three but at the later match Manning failed to appear, and the game and championship was given to Powell.

Gould is also well known, and says he is

From this time until the finish considerable tying was done, but at last Manning won. His friends say he played anything but a good game, but he gave as an excuse that the table was not level. The average pool-player would not have noticed it, but in such a scientific game both players at once saw the defect.

He is nothing but a youth, but has played many extraordinary games.

AN INTERVIEW WITH DR. M'GUIRE Europe.

The notice several days ago that Dr. Hunter McGuire had purchased the Pinel Hospital gave rise to the report that he intended the establishment of an addition to St. Luke's Hospital.

In answer to a question propounded by a representative of The Trags last evening Dr. Metjuire said: "I bought the property simply as an investment, having disposed of some property which I owned on Grace street. While I have not sufficient accommodations at St. Luke's for all the patients who apply for admission, I still have all the patients that I can possibly attend, and I have no idea whatever of using the Pinel Hospital—in fact, the property is for rent."

whatever of using the Pinel Hospital—in fact, the property is for rent."

The Doctor remarked that he received $10,000 for his Grace-street property and paid $20,000 for Pinel. Dr. McGuire is very enthusiastic over the needs of a public hospital here, and his arguments in favor of it are forcible and strong. He referred to the millions annually expended in New York for such purpose, which becomes not only a noble charity, but an absolute economy to any city. He also spoke of the urgent needs for an abattoir in Richmond, which, he asserts, would prove of inestimable benefit to the city from a prove of inestimable benefit to the city from a brove of inestimates believe the state of the sanitary standpoint.

Dr. McGuire has planned another trip to Europe, and will leave Richmond on July 15th to be absent about six weeks. St. Luke's Home closes this year on July 15th and reopens on the 10th of September.

THE PRINCE MUST EXPLAIN.

His August Mother Wants to Know About That Baccarat Scandal.

SIR WILLIAM WILL WRITE A BOOK.

He Will Relate His Own Version of that Tranby Croft Affair-Religious Press Comments Foreign Events.

LONDON, Junne 11 .- It is said that the Queen is so deeply stirred up over the baccarat revelations that she has directed the Prince of Wales to make an early personal explanation of his conduct, and that some of the Prince's associates in the game may be made to feel the royal displeasure. The Secretary of State for War has been overwhelmed with letters demanding that action be taken against the implicated officers.

The outspoken newspaper press comments upon the part the Prince of Wales played in upon the part the Prince of Wales played in the scandal continue to be the sensation of the day in England and elsewhere. A news-paper reporter who was present near the Prince of Wales at Ascot to-day when the race for the gold cup was won by Lord Hart-ington's Morion telegraphs that the Prince of Wales, who witnessed that event, was in a very sulky frame of mind, caused, it would appear, by the storm of adverse newspaper criticism which has swept and is still sweep-ing over the heir apparent. ing over the heir apparent.

RELIGIOUS PRESS COMMENTS.

The religious press, as might be expected, is the most severe in its comments upon the Prince of Wales' conduct.

The Christian World, an influential independent religious weekly paper, representing all the Protestant denominations, says, for instance: "The throne rests upon the foundation of public opinion only. A few more scandals like that of Tranby Croft would destroy this foundation and Edward VIII, would never be crowned."

The British Weekly remarks: "The revenever be crowned."

The British Weekly remarks: "The revelations are enough to sober up the strongest supporters of the monarchy."

The Vienna correspondent of the Times says that the baccarat scandal has caused a sensation in aimy circles on the continent, especially in countries where the Prince of Wales is honorary colonel of several regiments.

This correspondent also calls attention to the fact that an Austrian general, who was found to have condoned in a similar manner to that adopted by the Prince of Wales acts of cheating upon the part of one of his subor-dinate officers, was compelled to resign from the army in order to avoid being tried by court-martial.

ANTI-BACCARAT CRUSADE.

The Globe this evening says that both army and navy feel most keenly the stigma which and navy feel most keenly the stigma which has been placed upon an honorable profession by the agreement entered into between a field marshal and a general to maintain secrecy in regard to gambling and by "gambling with youngsters, one of them a subaltern."

The anti-baccarat crusade has evidently begun, and will probably extend rapidly all over the kingdom. The landlord of the Albert Hotel at Nottingham was arrested and fined Life to day for keeping his house open.

fined £10 to-day for keeping his house open after regulation hours and permitting the obnoxious baccarat to be played therein. Five others who were indulging in this game so much loved of the Prince of Wales were fined £1 each.

At the annual conference of the Congregational churches of Glamorganshire, Wales resolutions have been adopted denouncing the Prince of Wales for his connection with the baccarat scandal.

Sir William to Write a Book,

NEW YORK, June 11 .- Sir William Gordon-New York, June 11.—Sir William Gordon-Cumming has decided, says a letter from an acquaintance of the baronet in Londor to a gentleman in this city, to relate at length his own version of the Tranby Croft baccarat scandal in a small volume, which he proposes to bring out at an early date.

In his book he will deal particularly with what he has termed 'rascality' of Lycett Green, and the manner in which the Prince of Wales keeps his secrets, his candid opinion of

Green, and the manner in which the Prince of Wales keeps his secrets, his candid opinion of the hostess of Tranby Croft, the true and only reason which he was called upon to sign "that document," how the Prince of Wales plays the role of banker, why he carries his own baccarat apparatus about with him, the nonsense that occurred among the party on both nights of the play, and last, but not least, Lady Brooke's reason for breaking her promise to the Prince of Wales that she would not utter a single word about

LONDON, June 11.—The strike of the omni-bus drivers and conductors continues. The road car company announces that its vehicles road car company announces that its venicles are not running because the company cannot afford to pay the few men who remain loyal. These men must, therefore, share the sufferings of the strikers, while it is possible that the latter may decline to share their strike funds with the "loyalists." The road car company declare that if it granted higher wages it would be compelled to suspend operations altogether. The general situation remains unchanged.

Rain had been falling several days, and Tuesday night at 11 o'clock a water-spout burst and in a few minutes the streets were four feet deep in minutes the streets were four feet deep in water, presenting the appearance of a raging torrent. All the business houses were flooded. Men secured buggies, and with great difficulty succeeded in hauling the women and children to places of safety.

Three persons were drowned in Turkey creek—I omp Poindexter (a young farmer), his sister, and a young man named Albright. The dwelling-house of Captain Phillips was lifted from its foundation and carried nearly a mile, when it was hurled against a tree and wrecked. Phillips and one of his daughters caught some floating debris and were washed ashore half a mile from where the house was demolished. Mrs. Phillips and her baby caught on to a plank and were washed into the branches of a large tree, where they remained till the next day, when they were rescaed by parties in a boat.

A large number of houses were blowndown, and many others washed away. Dug-outs were filled with water and hundreds of people rendered homeless, and all their live stock, crops and other property swept away. A young farmer named Burdone while trying to reach the shore in a ferry-boat were thrown from the boat and drowned.

MANCHESTER MATTERS.

City-Attorney Clopton to Render an Opinion-Council to Meet.

At the last meeting of the City Council City-Attorney Clopton was requested to have a written opinion at the Council meeting towritten opinion at the Council meeting tonight as to whether the City Council has power to dispose of real estate belonging to the city by deed in fee simple. This information is desired by the Council, as a large manufacturing enterprise desires to locate in Manchester and the city councilmen desire to let the company have a site in fee simple.

In this connection City-Attorney Clopton
